Prayers for Jackie

Jackie Aguilar will be in Ukraine from September 22nd thru October 14th. Please lift her up in prayer as she shares the word of God, and shows the love of Jesus to those she comes in contact with. She would also like you to pray for her safety, health, and her family while she is away.

A Big Thank You

We want to thank all of the adults and youth that helped with the repairs and yard work to the houses we were assigned for the Addressing Mesquite Day. What a blessing this is to our community

Running Away

I can't remember what I was upset about, but I do well remember a time as a child when I was mad at my mom and contemplated running away. Thankfully I never reached the point where I actually made a run for it, but some kids do. Now as I look back as an adult I can say with confidence that my mom did a good job in raising me. I understand now why she made me do certain things, and why she forbade me from doing other things. At the time my childishness kept me from understanding her. Her thinking was very much a mystery to me. However, now from a little bit more mature vantage point I can understand her wisdom.

People sometimes respond to their heavenly Father the way that some of us did to our earthly parents. Some Christians get upset with God over circumstances in their lives and they depart from him. They just can't understand why he commands what he does, or why he has allowed what he has.

The Jews of Jeremiah's day were like that. They had left their God and began to follow false gods (Jer. 2:10-13). God asked this question to them: "What fault did your ancestors find in me, that they strayed so far from me?" (Jer. 2:5 NIV). God hadn't wronged the Jews in any way, and neither has he ever wronged us. The Jews, like us, often didn't understand why God allowed the things to happen that he did (Psa. 10:1). However, the reason why God doesn't make sense to us isn't because he doesn't make sense, but its because of our own lack of sense (Isa. 55:8-9). Just as now from an adult perspective I can understand why my mom did what she did in raising me, from a heavenly perspective we'll be able to understand why God has done what he has.

When life doesn't make sense, don't charge God with wrongdoing and run away from him. Just trust that "farther along, we'll know all about it; farther along, we'll understand why."
